PLANNING MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Henry Kalbfleisch will Turn Faber Property into Apartment House, Double Dwelling and Bowling Alley. New Thomas Building.

John H. Crowe, the local architect, is preparing plans for the alterations and additions to the Faber property at the corner of Chambersburg and Washington streets, recently purchased by Henry Kalbfleisch. The building will be 30 x 180 feet, the front part 30 x 32, three stories in height. The middle section will be 30 x 113 feet two stories high, and at the rear a three story double dwelling will be erected.

The upper floors of the building will be apartments of five and six rooms with bath entrance being given on Chambersburg and Washington streets. The double dwelling will of course, face on Washington street. The first floor front will be occupied by Mr. Kalbfleisch with pool room and a bowling alley.

Mr. Crowe is also preparing the plans for the three story store and office building which will be erected by Thomas Brothers in Biglerville this spring, brief note of which has previously been made in these columns. The building will be 40 x 100 feet three stories in height with basement.

Provision will be made in the basement for a restaurant, saddler shop, barber shop and storage room. The entire first floor will be occupied by a large and commodious store room for Thomas Brothers. At the rear of the building a combination stair hall and fire tower will be provided for the accommodation of the upper floors. On the second floor offices and a large lodge room are provided for and the third floor will be utilized as an auditorium.

Plans are also in course of preparation for the residence of J. H. Collier, to be built on Springs avenue. The architect is also making plans for the alterations and additions to the Hotel Gettysburg of which more will be said later.

ARE INTERESTED IN MANY BILLS

Local People Follow Work of State Legislators as they Talk Hunting License, School Code and Road Improvement.

Gettysburg and Adams County people are much interested in a number of measures shortly to be presented to the State Legislature. Three of these, the state wide road system, the hunter's license and the school code are arousing no little discussion and argument here, the last being scheduled for debate at the convention of the county school directors this week.

The state road bill, which will provide for a system of cross state highways and inter-county roads to be constructed and maintained by the Commonwealth, will probably make its appearance in the Legislature this week. The bill is understood to be in the hands of Senator William C. Sprout, of Delaware county, and is designed to inaugurate a highway construction on a magnificent scale, the program to cover a period of years and to give Pennsylvania a systematic road building plan. Gettysburg will be included in the route system to be planned and the county will, therefore, get several good roads as a result. The amount of the appropriation has not yet been determined upon, but it is understood that it will cover a period of years. In fact, the program will take ten years or more and some millions.

The bill to require all hunters in Pennsylvania to take out a license, which has created such a furor among sportsmen and farmers will be presented in the House of Representatives this week by Representative W. D. Walton, of Lawrence county, who will be in charge of the measure. The bill will be bitterly fought, as organizations of hunters in all sections of the state have taken it up, and the men who hunt are divided into two camps. The opponents of the bill are already deluging the members of the Legislature with remonstrances and Dr. Joseph Kalbfleisch, secretary of the State Game Commission and the sponsor of the bill, says that he has received assurances from men favorable to such a measure that they will work hard to urge a favorable report on the bill by the Game Committee and to line up members in its support.

Adams County's school directors object to a number of the features of the proposed school code. One of these is the eight months' term which many claim is too long for the country districts. Others are strongly opposed to the board of education provided by the code. If the code goes through as now drafted, Governor Tener is to appoint a State Board of Education of six members, three of whom shall be successful educators of high standing connected with the public school system of Pennsylvania. They are to serve for six years and are to receive no compensation other than the payment of necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties as members of the board.

WALKED NAKED IN CITY

Man Who Imitated Lady Godiva on Bet of $1 May Go to Prison.

Nauganee, Mich., Feb. 7.—The legend of Lady Godiva, who rode bare back and naked through the streets of Coventry, was enacted here with variations.

Chief among the variations was the fact that the title role was enacted by a male person, one Andrew Nordland, and to win a bet of $1 he walked instead of rode.

Lady Godiva rode through a street with the windows closed. The Nauganee reproduction of the legendary feat was seen by 500 persons, among them the chief of police, and now Andrew faces the prospect of spending a year in the state prison.

The temperature of Nauganee was exactly zero when Nordland made his journey.

BROTHERS JAILED FOR WRECKING BANK

Plead Guilty and Are Given Three Years Each.

Crawford, brothers, and vice president and secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the institution, were each sentenced to three years in the county prison and fined $500.

The American Trust company was closed by the state bank examiner in November, 1909, when an examination of the books gave evidence of the concern's unhealthy condition. A further examination of the trust company's books showed gross manipulation and fictitious and worthless loans to the amount of $238,000.

YOUNG AGAINST LORIMER

Iowa "Stand-Patter" Also Announces He Will Vote For Direct Elections.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 7.—Senator Lafayette Young, of Iowa, announced that he would vote to unseat Senator William Lorimer.

Senator Young announced also that he would vote for the resolution for the election of senators by direct vote of the people.

Senator Young is a "stand-patter" Republican, serving by appointment of the governor of Iowa in the place of the late Senator Dolliver. He is a candidate before the legislature for the regular election to fill out the unexpired term.

His enemies look upon this announcement as a possible bowing to popular sentiment in Iowa in an effort to garner enough votes to be elected. The legislature has been deadlocked since the middle of January.

KING OPENS PARLIAMENT

British Monarch and Queen Convoke Law Makers.

CROWDS GREET ROYAL PAIR

Their Majesties Rode in Gilded State Coach Drawn by Eight Cream Colored Horses—Speech Was Colorless.

London, Feb. 7.—King George and Queen Mary, for the first time in their reign, proceeded in state from Buckingham Palace to Westminster, where his majesty read the speech formally opening parliament, from the throne in the house of lords. During the ceremony the queen was seated at the side of the king.

The king's speech was brief and colorless. It opened with a filial reference to the death of King Edward. The only reference to foreign affairs was a mention of the fact that negotiations had been opened with Japan for a new commercial treaty, and an allusion to the friction in Persia over the disturbance of British trade routes. A casual expression of interest in the approaching imperial conference was made.

Only two proposed legislative measures were mentioned specifically. "Proposals," said the king, "will be submitted without delay for settling the relations between the two houses of parliament with the object of securing an effective working constitution."

Legislation would also be had, his majesty said, to provide insurance against sickness and unemployment.

In making the declaration of faith, King George used for the first time the amended form adopted at the last session of parliament, and which amends the traditional reference to the Catholic church which was offensive to the adherents of that faith.

From the paucity of the legislative proposals it is evident that the government has determined to allow nothing beyond necessary financial measures to interfere with action on the veto bill.

The suffragettes are already threatening a renewal of their activities because they were not mentioned in the speech, and the Laborites are much put out for the reason that it contained no promise of a bill dealing with the hated Osborne judgment.

Though the day was dark and chilly an immense throng was gathered in St. James' park and in Whitehall, where the gorgeous procession passed, while other thousands surrounded the parliamentary buildings.

Their majesties rode in the gilded state coach drawn by eight cream-colored horses caparisoned in gold and purple. The king wore a field marshal's uniform.

As the royal party passed the cheering was unusually hearty, as it was the first opportunity the populace has had to express its gratification over the vindication of King George in the recent libel suit against Edward Mylius.

An escort of life guards preceded the state coach, and yeomen of the guard followed. Five state carriages, each drawn by six horses, were occupied by officials of the court and gentlemen and ladies-in-waiting. Regiments of the guards lined the route, and as the procession moved on the artillery regiments fired the royal salute. The crown and sword of state were borne from St. James' palace to parliament in the royal carriage under the escort of the guards.

Three Men Rob Bank by Daylight.

Linwood, Kan., Feb. 7.—Three robbers blew up the safe of the Linwood State bank and escaped with $1800 in silver and currency. Citizens were held at bay outside the building by two of the men while their companion inside emptied the safe. With revolvers in their hands the three men retreated to the outskirts of the town and disappeared.

U. S. OFFICERS JOIN SEARCH

Secret Service Men Start to Trace Fate of Missing Postmaster.

Atlantic City, Feb. 7.—Federal agents of the United States government made their first appearance in the case involving the mysterious disappearance of Postmaster Ashhurst, of Philadelphia, here.

Fred Nelson, who asked for information as a member of the secret service, started to trace the fate of the missing postmaster, but admitted that he was unable to solve the mystery.

Nelson refused to make known the contents of personal telegrams sent to and by Postmaster Ashhurst for several days before his disappearance, but admitted the belief that the missing man may be still alive and in retirement for reasons of his own.

The officer also declared that his investigation so far had showed no indication that Postmaster Ashhurst had women friends or that his possible secret departure from this city may have been caused by anything but temporary aberration of mind or worry.

RUN ON BETHLEHEM BANK

Rumor That Concern Was in Bad Shape Started Trouble.

South Bethlehem, Pa., Feb. 7.—Following a rumor that the funds of Zbovovsky's bank, a financial institution for foreigners, conducted by George Zbovovsky, were in bad shape, there was a run on the bank.

It began early in the morning and lasted until the late afternoon. The bank was in shape to meet the run, however, and so far over $40,000 has been paid out to 300 depositors.

The foreigners, it is said, were misled by enemies of the banker, who kept leaving industrial plants to collect their deposits.

VICTIMS OF BLACK HAND VENGEANCE

One Tied in Burning Home and Another Stabbed.

Punxsutawney, Pa., Feb. 7.—Supposed Black Handers wreaked their vengeance in a sensational manner at Brockwayville, near here.

Breaking into the home of Charles Volsted, a well-to-do baker, they tied him to the posts of his bed, and after vainly searching for money, kindled a fire in the bakery directly under the room in which Volsted was bound.

It was not until flames had burned through the flooring and had communicated to the bed that Volsted was able to free himself. He was severely burned about the arms and body.

Half an hour after this Samuel Manning, agent for a brewing company, was attacked near a spot where he had been ordered to leave a sum of money and knifed in such a manner that twenty-four stitches were required to close his wounds. He was left for dead in the roadway. Manning is in a serious condition and is likely to die.

Volsted had received four Black Hand letters each demanding that he place $500 in a fence corner at a designated spot, the penalty for failure being the burning of his place and the killing of his wife and child and himself in some horrible manner.

BATTLESHIP TEXAS DOOMED

Vessel Is Sentenced to Destruction as a Moving Target For Navy.

Charleston, S. C., Feb. 7.—Sentenced to destruction as a moving target, after a notable record in the naval service, the old second-class battleship Texas, which has been station ship at the navy yard here, left on her last voyage for Norfolk, where she will be dismantled. Her place here has been taken by the cruiser Baltimore.

Germany Shelters Haiti Rebel Leader.

Cape Haitien, Haiti, Feb. 7.—General Cincinnatus Leconte, formerly minister of the interior, who is proposed for the presidency by the rebels, has taken refuge in the German consulate. The other consulates are harboring many non-combatants.

A New Back for an Old One—How it is Done in Gettysburg.

The backaches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the joints are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Follow the example of this Gettysburg citizen.

Mrs. C. W. Culp, 433 South Washington street, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I have greater faith in Doan's Kidney Pills today than when I publicly recommended them two years ago. A member of my family had kidney trouble, as the result of an attack of the measles. Backache caused much suffering and there were pains in the side which made lifting an impossibility. The kidney secretions were also unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally procured at the People's Drug Store and their use was followed by great relief. I advise anyone afflicted with kidney complaint to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

Judicious feeding, proper exercise and warm, dry quarters are the best preventives of rheumatism in hogs.

One of the best preventives of scratches in horses is to keep the feet clean. If mud is permitted to dry on the fetlocks irritation is likely to ensue.

Swine parasites congregate around the ears and along the spine, and if a mixture of lard and kerosene, half and half, be dripped on the animals at these points while they are feeding as often as lice are seen the parasites will soon disappear and not return.

Disorder of the digestive functions afflicts lambs most severely. White scour affects the unweaned lamb. This appears to be the passing of undigested milk. Change the ewe's feed, providing poorer hay with ground oats and corn with a sprinkling of linseed meal.

Shall We Rejoice

Gladness comes with a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed and assisted by the pleasant laxative remedy Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

HOW WEAK WOMEN

May be Made Strong at Small Expense and No Risk.

There are hundreds of women in this vicinity, weak, thin, run down, tired out and nervous. Such women need Vinol just as much as did Mrs. Jane Pepper, of 2307 Howard street, San Francisco, Cal., who says:

"I have used Vinol for some time with particularly gratifying results. I was run down, weak and debilitated, and my appetite was gone. After taking several bottles of Vinol I found my condition greatly improved, and I do not hesitate to recommend Vinol to anyone similarly affected." (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

Vinol is not a secret nostrum, but a delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil which will create an appetite, tone up the digestive organs, make pure blood and create strength.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. People's Drug Store, C. Wm. Beales, proprietor, Gettysburg, Pa.

DODGING THE LAW

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

Josephus Henderson was a man of forty when a startling event took place in his life. He was also a widower. He was exactly five feet high and weighed 110 pounds. These figures will convince you that Josephus was not numbered among the mighty men of earth. He had tried various ways of making a living, and in pursuing them he had got the reputation of being keen. He had at last turned peddler and was driving a horse and wagon around the country with dry goods, notions, groceries and tinware. That's the way he came to meet the widow Sopher, who lived on a farm.

The widow had passed forty. She was large and bony and strong. She was not handsome. The only thing on earth she feared was the law. She had once been arrested for kicking a man and had spent ten days in jail. The sheriff had made her stay as pleasant as possible, but she had never recovered from the shock.

Peddlers are a jovial lot, and so are widows, and in time these two came to call each other Josh and Sally.

Things would have gone no further but for the little man's keenness. He never made a sale to the widow without cheating her, and one day when he heard that she had come into possession of $5,000 in cash through the death of a brother Josephus saw his way clear for the future. That money would set up a store in the village, and he would become a thriving merchant.

Josephus went courting. He found the widow behind the plow in a field. As he courted she plowed. He had no objections, as time was money to both of them. Josephus confessed that he had entertained a sneaking affection for the widow since his first call, and though she didn't say much, she seemed pleased.

Josephus was told to call two weeks later, but at the end of nine days he was back again. He said it was his beating heart that fetched him. He had cut the time down, but the widow was ready for him. Several days previous she had gone to the village and paid a lawyer $5 to answer the question:

"Can the law trouble a wife who likes her husband?"

And his answer had been:

"Not if you do not lick him too hard. There is neither assault nor battery in what may be called a moderate licking. Don't break any bones and don't seriously injure his eyes."

"I have been thinking," said the widow to Josephus: "I have been thinking and wondering if you loved me."

"Heavens, can you doubt it?" he exclaimed.

"And you will always love me?"

"Forever and forever!"

"Then we'll say two months hence."

"One month—a week—a day!"

Josephus knew of a store to rent in the village, and he wanted that $5,000. The widow insisted that she must have two weeks at the very shortest, and a date was settled on. The marriage was to be private and be celebrated in her home. In due time the happy day came round—a preacher and two witnesses and the deed was done. An hour later, as the happy couple were left alone, the widow changed her dress, rolled up her sleeves and brought out a new horsewhip bought for the occasion.

"What's up?" asked the wondering Josephus.

"Take off your coat and stand out."

"For what, love? I want to talk with you about opening a store in town."

"Plenty of time for that, Josephus. The first sale you made to me was five yards of roller towel. You beat me on the price and on the measure. I'm going to tan your jacket for it!"

"But, love—"

She took him by the collar and laid on the whip till he hollered. A woman who could twist a plow around in clay soil could handle the little Josephus.

"The second sale," continued the wife as she rested, "was five tin pans. Four of them leaked, and you beat me out of 10 cents beside. Here is licking No. 2."

"But I am your dear husband!" he protested as he squirmed about.

"And that's why I can lick you and dodge the law. Here goes!"

Josephus' hide was tickled again. He attempted to fight, but was taken by the hair and his head banged against the wall till he grew quiet.

When the performance was over and the wife had got her breath she said:

"You sold me ten yards of calico for a dress and warranted it to wash. It was three-quarters of a yard short on the measure and the colors ran into each other. Josephus, some more horsewhipping!"

"I'll have you arrested for this!"

"You can't. That's what I paid $5 to make sure of. Come to time!"

And Josephus was licked for selling short weight groceries, and for charging 50 cents too much for a pair of shoes, and for selling black stockings that croaked, and when he had got his last stroke the wife said:

"Josephus, darling, it was a consoling of mine that got the $5,000, but you're not me, and here we dwell, and you do the farm work and do it well, or you'll get some more of this! The mercantile business is not for us, dear. What we want is the free air of the country, with honest prices and good measure thrown in!"

Silage as a Stock Food.

Silage alone is not a complete food, but it is identical with the green corn stalk and during the season of dry feed supplies the cow with that succulence which nearly all other rations, excepting a ration involving alfalfa hay, do not have. Silage and alfalfa hay will make a balanced ration and cheap. Study the silo question. It is worth while, says the Kansas Farmer. It is worth while whether you are milking a single cow or not. Horses, hogs, pigs and calves eat silage and thrive on it as well as does the dairy cow.

(This matter must not be repeated without special permission.)

A HELP IN THE HOUSE.

Many a hardworking housewife could ease her labors greatly, as well as save the cost of ice and the fuel used in melting it, did she understand a little more about the cleansing of hard water. It is true that the job can be done after a fashion with washing powders, but much more satisfactory results are had by using one of the several brands of pure concentrated lye. Well water varies in hardness—that is, in the amount of lime it contains—from nearly soft to very hard, and the only way to find out how hard it is and how much lye will be required to cleanse or soften a given amount of it is by doing a little experimenting. The way the water acts with soap gives a good general idea. A level spoonful of powdered lye dissolved in a little warm water and stirred in will cleanse six pails of quite hard water. Should the water be softer a half level tablespoonful of lye may be tried on the same amount of water. If after the lime precipitate has thoroughly settled an application of soap to a little of the cleansed water imparts a milky color, this is evidence that not quite enough lye has been added. When the amount of lye required for cleansing a given amount of water has been determined, future testing of the water will not be necessary, as the water will usually continue quite uniform in the amount of lime it contains. The water will cleanse the more rapidly if it is warmed slightly.

A SENSIBLE SUGGESTION.

Farm, Stock and Home make a suggestion in a recent issue that has much to commend it to taxpayers and legislators in a number of states. The suggestion had in view taking money received from the sale of state lands and reinvesting it in the developing of these lands, particularly along the line of clearing and making ready for tillage a certain portion of every tract sold and also the building of roads to lands opened up so as to make them accessible to market and in the end when the work was done adding the cost of the improvements to the value of the land in distributed payments and in the case of the roads bonding the township for a period of years to meet the last of the improvements. It was pointed out that one of the chief advantages in this plan would be due to the fact that the real settler, instead of having to borrow private capital at 8 or 10 per cent, could in the manner outlined have the use of state funds at not more than 4 per cent, while the fact that a good share of the tedious work of grubbing the land which would be done in advance would tend to encourage settlement. Captious critics may say that such a plan smacks of paternalism or possibly socialism, but it is sound and sensible notwithstanding, as it has in view giving aid to a large number who need aid.

BENEFITS OF FALL PLOWING.

While spring plowing may be preferable to fall plowing in some sections where small grain follows a tilled crop, the benefits of fall plowing are such that it should be followed in far larger measure than at present. One of the chief of these is the disintegrating and mellowing action of the frost, rain and snow during the winter months—a benefit, by the way, that is too often overlooked. A second advantage of fall plowing not rightly valued by those unacquainted with the habits of many insect pests is that during the fall and winter months the worst foes of the farm crops—the cutworms, white grubs, wireworms, corn root worms, corn ear worms and corn root lice—are in the dormant or pupal stage, and plowing the ground after they are nicely housed against the cold weather not only covers many of them so deep that they never come to light, but exposes others so that they fall victims to their bird enemies or die from exposure to the cold. Moreover, if the land is fall plowed it is possible to work it with the disk much earlier the next spring, which will sprout and kill myriads of weeds.

MONEY IN POPCORN.

As a general thing popcorn yields a little more than half as many bushels as ordinary dent corn and does not bring quite twice as much per pound. A farmer who lives in the popcorn belt in the Mississippi valley, whose yield of popcorn for 1910 we saw reported the other day, harvested an average of 4,000 pounds per acre and received $1.20 per hundredweight, an average return of $48. If it cost him $12 an acre to produce it, and the crop gave him a net return of $36 per acre, which is a very satisfactory revenue. An advantage which growing popcorn has over raising the common varieties of field corn is that the former may be planted a trifle later if necessary and open a couple of weeks earlier in the fall, thus escaping damage from frost.

While a horse will not long remember a blow on the rump, it takes a long time for him to forget a blow on the head. An intelligent, high life animal which the writer bought last spring had been handled in the latter fashion evidently, and it was only after months of gentle handling that he would not lift his head with a start when we went into the stall. The fellow who hit this horse with a club or whip, or what not, did in a couple of seconds what it took more than twice as many months to undo. In fact, the harm he did will probably never be fully done away.

Made Her Look Twenty Years Younger

Read Mrs. Herrick's Sworn Statement

STATE OF NEW YORK) COUNTY OF MONROE) ss: ROCHSTER, N. Y.
Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a girl, I had a head of heavy, long dark brown hair which was the envy of my school mates, and which attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. As I grew older, my hair commenced to come out, just a little at first, but gradually more and more, and then began to turn gray. I was induced by the many good reports I had heard of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy to try a bottle. My hair was quite thin and gray when I began using Sage and Sulphur, and you can imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, being thicker, darker and more glossy than it had been for a long time. I continued to use Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is now as heavy, dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is still in splendid condition.
